

A diamond giveaway for a diamond jubilee

Issued by Pyrotec

3 Mar 2020

The 60th anniversary of Queen Elizabeth's reign, or 'diamond jubilee', was a national celebration in the UK. While many well-known consumer brands attempted to link their promotional activity to this historic event, few did it with more extravagance than the luxury ready-made dessert brand Gü.

Gü's on-pack promotion gave away a diamond necklace every day for 60 days to mark the occasion. To participate in the competition, consumers had to visit the Gü Facebook page and enter the variable code they found hidden on the Fix-a-Form® promotional booklet label's base label. This provided the promotion with the benefit of driving traffic to the brand's website and creating social media engagement.

The six-page promotional label, with its parallel fold and perforation for easy opening, was automatically applied to the dessert pack.
