

Deadline extended for Wolda '09

Wolda '09, the Worldwide Logo Design Annual, is still open for entries collecting logos designed both in 2008 and 2009. The deadline for logos designed in 2008 has been extended to 15 July 2009.

The entry fee for this year's competition includes a 2009 book copy, free of charge (including shipping), for every participant.

Winners and participants of last year along with members of endorsing associations and schools or facebook group members are entitled to relevant discounts.

Winners will be determined by a three tier jury comprising 10 designers, 10 clients and 10 public members selected respectively by Icograda, Aquent and Consumers International.

For more information, go to www.wolda.org.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>