

Be-cause Integrated Communications expands, opens London office

Be-cause Integrated Communications has expanded with a new London office, aiming to extend innovative communication solutions to UK-based clients in healthcare, education, sustainability, and tech. Led by Emma Proctor, the office plans to leverage expertise in digital marketing and brand development. Founder Beverley Houston aims to enhance offerings with a unique editorial perspective. With international clients like Women's World Banking and The TEFL Academy, Be-cause looks to fortify its global communication solutions.
