

The Institute of Natural Resources appoints Professor Tafadzwa Mabhaudhi as its new director

The Institute of Natural Resources (INR) has selected Professor Tafadzwa Mabhaudhi as its new head, indicating a more ambitious role for the Pietermaritzburg-based research and development agency.

Mabhaudhi has an extensive understanding of the relationship between water, energy, food, and the environment, particularly in southern Africa. He aims to position the INR as a leader in the area.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>