

EWN editor-in-chief Katy Katopodis resigns, starts own media co.

After 21 years at Primedia Broadcasting, Eyewitness News (EWN) editor-in-chief Katy Katopodis will be leaving the broadcaster at the end of July to work for her own media company.

Katopodis comments: "After more than two decades with Primedia, the timing is now perfectly right to explore new and exciting opportunities. It may be the end of an era, but it's also the beginning of an exciting new chapter for me. I've started my own media company with two exceptional women with enormous professional integrity in the industry and who share my values and vision for the future of media in South Africa."

#Newsmaker interview coming soon...

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>