

Altron Karabina appoints James Hickman as its acting executive

James Hickman, former head of sales, solutioning and marketing, has been named acting executive for Altron Karabina. Hickman's appointment follows Altron Group's announcement that Altron Karabina managing director Collin Govender has been promoted to Altron Systems Integration managing director.

Hickman holds an MBA from GIBS Business School and was the MD of a Qlik Master Reseller in South Africa before joining Altron Karabina. He had previously served as enterprise sales director at Microsoft for 13 years.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>