

Shishangeni's Camp Shawu reopens after mini-renovation

After a mini-renovation, Shishangeni, operated by BON Hotels, has re-opened Camp Shawu. Guests can now make their way to the refurbished pool and pool deck along the new walkway as well as enjoy a meal at the beautifully appointed dining area.

Camp Shawu

BON Hotel Shishangeni, located on a 15,000-hectare private concession of Kruger National Park is easily accessible by air or road and comprises three camps: Shishangeni Private Lodge, Camp Shonga, and Camp Shawu, each adding a different experience.

Camp Shawu named after the most famous of the African elephants, the Magnificent Seven can accommodate 10 guests in five African inspired rooms, built with authentic buffalo dung walls, that overlook the Mpanamana dam and make for excellent game viewing. Walkways lead to the pool area and dining room with unfettered views of the Kruger Park, its game, flora, and fauna.
