

'David Beckham Into The Unknown' documentary available

BBC Worldwide has announced it has pre-sold David Beckham Into The Unknown to a range of countries, with South Africa (BBC Knowledge) being one of them.

David Beckham 'Into The Unknown' follows David and three of his closest friends as they explore and experience the isolation of the Brazilian rainforest on a once in a lifetime expedition. The world knows that David Beckham, one of the most decorated football players of all time, has hung up his professional boots.

During the course of their journey, Beckham and his friends cook, camp and fish through the tropical Amazon rainforest to discover the "real Brazil" with world renowned Director Anthony Mandler capturing their exploits on film.
